The Dudley-Charlton middle schools implement a mathematics program based on the Common Core Standards and is supported by on-going professional development. Students work on math fact fluency and are assessed school-wide to gauge progress toward benchmarks. In English Language Arts, students continue to work with the comprehension strategies outlined in the Keys to Literacy program. There is an emphasis on answering and creating higher level questions, as reflected in Bloom's Taxonomy. In addition, each grade level will introduce at least one of the DESE Model Curriculum units to focus on specific English Language Arts skills as outlined in the Common Core Standards.
